“ Jim Nash (Charlotte). My deepest condolences to the Mousin family on the loss of Phil. I knew, and admired, Phil for many years. The funny thing is, he and I were competitors in the banking arena, as I am a long-time BofA guy. Yes, we had all our “banker talk” and in a number of cases over the years had the good fortune to collaborate on joint assignments as we worked together to fulfill mutual client objectives, but what I really enjoyed the most (and sorely will miss) were our discussions about family, our varied outside interests, and the ways of the big world out there. Phil was as fine a man and friend to all as I have known. I wish all in Phil’s family the peace and comfort that comes from holding his memory close. Rest well, my friend...you are well missed.

“ I was totally shocked to here this news. Phil reached out to me a couple of years ago when He saw that I Co Founded an organization called HIKE for Mental Health. He became a good supporter of our group. When he saw that I had a trombone. he sent me some books on playing the Trombone. We were classmates and we were both on the cross country and track team in high school. When he wasn't off picking apples with his family. lol He knew I live in Houston now, and made many offers for me to stay in his guest room when I traveled back east. I will now tell you a funny story about Phil. In High School I was a jock just like Phill, but I also was a bit of a stoner back then. lol After we graduated I got a call from Phil asking if I'd come over to his house. We lived very close to one another. So I went over. Phil answered the door and invited me in. He said to me. Tom I'm going to be going off to college this spring, and well I know you smoke pot. At that point he pulled out a small bag of pot and a pipe and said. I have never smoked pot before but going to college I know it will be around and I don't want to look stupid. Will you show me how to do it. lol That was classic Phil. I did take him under my wing. lol I was so excited that we reconnected again after so many years. And like I said he was a big supporter of my organization HIKE for Mental Health. Again I am blown away. I was looking forward to seeing him again. You were a great man Phil and you are dearly missed by many. as a tear drips from my eye.

“ I have known the Mousin family since my middle school years when I became friends with Gwen. We were all part of the United Methodist Church in Hackensack's youth group, MYA, with many wonderful memories of the activities we took part in. The Mousin family made me a part of theirs, to this day. Gwen and I were ardent supporters of the Hackensack track team, proud to watch the top 3 win meet after meet, Phil, Kevin and Danny. Many times there were track parties at Hammell Place, that I was happy to be part of, as the little sister's friend. I remember times at the farm, the outdoor games played, and wonderful food shared. I remember Phil as a quiet, smiling gracious guy, completely dedicated to his physical fitness. I also remember when Eric and Jeremy were born, and Christy and the boys were still hospitalized, helping out by watching Allison, and letting her play with my girls. Many times in the more recent years, I was a member of the same gym, and would see him working out and say hello. Be at peace Phil.

“ As fellow Maywoodians, Phil and I were classmates, first in Maywood from kindergarten through junior high, and then at Hackensack High School. I saw Phil last at our 45th high school reunion in 2016 and was glad to have had that opportunity to reminisce and catch-up. My sincere condolences to the entire Mousin family; my thoughts are with you. And to Phil, may you rest in peace, old friend.

“ Philip was a deeply loved cousin who, many years ago, gave my three sons the "ride of their life" on a tractor through the orchard on the beloved farm in Westtown, New York. There are many more cherished memories that I will keep close at heart. Just know how much he was loved.

“ I met Phil when we each began our first job after college at Bankers Trust Company in New York. He was funny, intelligent, and always willing to give me advice as I became an amateur runner -- well-- jogger is a better word. And even though I would never be a serious racer, he was always encouraging. The world has lost a strong, kind, amazing man way too soon. My sincerest condolences to his family -- our world is a better place because of Phil Mousin.
