

Amelia Louise Young

December 17, 2018

Amelia Louise “Lollie” Young stepped into glory on December 17, 2018 at her home in Englewood, NJ. Amelia was born on November 9, 1941 at Hackensack Hospital. If you knew Amelia you knew that she was the Queen of Jewelry and Fashion. She shopped HSN and QVC just to name a few. She worked in the New York Jewelry District for 30 years and the Bergen County Courthouse in the Purchasing Department for the last 27 years, where she received awards for her hard work and dedication to the job: Certificate of Appreciation for 20 Years of Service and Certificate of Commendation for 25 Years of Service.

Amelia was a very special person and touched many lives. She always had a kind word and was loved by many. She expressed to all “Live, Love, Laugh” and always in such high spirits. She was a vibrant woman that exuded style and grace. She was the life of the party, dancing, and always spending time with her family.

She is preceded in death by her spouses James A. Lewis, Robert W. Young, and two longtime companions, Dalton Christian and Eugene Howell, her parents Amelia Louise and George Rainey Sr., and four siblings, Leroy Rainey, Eugene Rainey, Judy Drysdale Jackson, and Bernice Devitt-McKay. Amelia leaves to cherish her memory her children, Theresa L. Lugo (son-in-law Richard Lugo) and Bobbi Young. Her granddaughters: Candice Mizelle, Danielle Eddings, Kristina Mizelle, and Sabrina Lugo along with her great-grandson Christian Mizelle-Coombs. Also her siblings, Jeanette Sydnor and George Rainey Jr. and a host of relatives and friends.

“ I am in shock. Just saw her last week, after not seeing her for over three years. She was one of my favorite customers, who loved the fragrance Flowerbomb. I am going to miss our great phone conversations. Our last talk was about how good the Lord is. This angel is now in heaven. I will forever miss her.
