“ Dear Family, I am so sorry to hear about Chris. I am deeply hurt as I know you all are. I have been a life-long friend of Chris's dad, Johh, and love all of you. Eric and Glenn I am so sorry. I feel terrible and know that God will embrace all of you giving you comfort during this time. And I know fully that we will all meet one day again. I knew Chris when he was a young boy and can relate to him having my own son named Chris. I pray that God is comforting him at this time and brought him to a better place. I think about good times, old times, and sad to say, sad times. May God Bless you all! Love,

“ To the Polizzi Family, Although I do not personally know your entire family, I was deeply saddened to hear about the death of Chris. I am praying to the Lord Jesus Christ that your family be richly blessed with emotional healing, peace of mind, and strength to live the days ahead. The peace I pray is for a permanent peace, not a temporary peace...a peace that will allow you to lay down in the evening and sleep and then to rise in the morning, looking forward to another day of all of the good that life has to offer. God is our refuge and strength, always ready to help in times of trouble. Seek Him and He will find you, because unlike a friend, he hears every word you utter and every tear that you shed.
