“ Ed had magic in his hands and scissors, and always cut hair the most flattering way for a customer's face. He was talented, friendly, sincere, and supportive of women's desire to look their best, and always proceeded to amaze his customers with his beautiful haircuts. The trust he inspired in his customers was absolutely wonderful, and he always made his customers look phenomenal. It didn't matter what kind of hair you had - curly, fine, damaged -- he could find a way to work with it and create miracles. Women left his salon feeling more attractive, capable, and confident. And he worked carefully and skillfully to make his customers to feel that way. It made him happy when his customers were happy with the result, too. For all of us who were privileged to experience his ministrations, rest in peace, Ed.

“ I too found out about the sad event when I called and found out his phone number was disconnected. I couldn't understand what happened. When I got the salon where he worked and they said he had passed away, I was so shocked. I cannot believe he is gone. Eddie did my hair for 30 years. He was always cheerful and a great listener. And you always left feeling better about yourself. He was always upbeat about new projects and the future. He will be so missed. There are no words. My condolences to his family. I still cannot believe it and I will miss him greatly. Thank you Eddie for being you and the "greatest" hair dresser, I have ever met. You made the world a more beautiful and nice place. Love always,

“ I would like to let the family and friends know they are in my thoughts and prayers. We are all going to miss Eddy so very much. I was first introduced to Ed by the Fitzimmons, when he had the studio on 60th above Blimpies. For the next 33 years never let anyone else cut my hair. As a flight attendant, I lived in various cities in the US and in Europe. I would always fly back to NY for Ed to cut my hair. He was an amazing hair dresser and a wonderful friend. I brought my roommate, Christine in to meet Ed and get her haircut. Later on they got married. Over the years, I was able to keep up to date and in touch with so many friends. Because even though I may have lost track of them over the years... Everyone kept in touch with Eddy.. He was the one constant in everyone's lives. When I got married and we were building our house, Ed and I used to swap building stories. He was so proud of his B & B upstate.. “ Ed was a good friend and my hairdresser for more years than I can remember. I looked forward to my regular updates on his bed and breakfast, his rental property, his life and his travels. Although his death was a shock, I know he really enjoyed every moment of his busy life. If he had lived to be 1,000, he never would have completely finished the house, it was a never ending, lifelong passion - the journey was the destination.##imported-begin##robin##imported-end##

“ I just called to make an appointment with Ed and was told the shocking news of his death. I am going to miss Eddie so much. I have been going to him since 1981 (back when he had the salon on East 60th above the Blimpie place!) and always enjoyed seeing him, not only for a great haircut that always got me compliments, but to chat and joke with him and hear how his house upstate was coming along. What a wonderful, caring, gentle and kind man he was. My deepest sympathy to his family and friends. He always spoke very lovingly of his sister and children and I know he always loved Christine even after they parted.##imported-begin##Frances Clarke##imported-end##

“ Ed - Although we met only several times--the first time at a Hoboken playreading group at Fran's and Augusta's. They gave you a speaking part, and you played the role with enthusiasm! The next several times I was a guest at your townhouse on Garden Street in Hoboken. You made a lasting impression on me. You are someone I wish I could be more like--efficient, realistic, wise, reflective, and FUN--the type that just gets the job done no matter what seeming obstacles stand in the way. I thought you seemed like someone who could just break through the brick walls--no problem, no doubts. You just did it. On a couple occasions, you and Christine treated your Hoboken neighbors, including me, to some memorable buffet dinner parties. You were the gourmet host, and possessed an obvious flair for taste and presentation. You made us all feel like special guests and cared for. Many people loved you so much, and they are grieving--especially your children and Christine. Thank you for inspiring us to live better, richer, fuller lives. You will live on in the hearts of your beloved family members, and the many others whose lives you inspired and touched. On a lighter note, I hope you are able to complete your B&B in your better place, and that we all can meet there again someday! Thank you for you light and love,

“ Ed, you were a close friend and confidant, particularly in recent years. You left us all too soon, and I sent warm memories to Christine and to your three children and grandchildren. We shared a love of dance and I will always cherish the memories of going to NYCB together -- it won't be the same again. Thank you for your dear friendship. “ I first met Eddie 23 years ago this month. He has been my hairdresser ever since! One very funny anecdote was that his longstanding clients would have a competition amongst us in his salon as to who knew Eddie the longest. The longer your tenure was with Eddie, the more you wanted to play it!!! Of course, Eddie loved it too!!!!Eddie and I shared so much over the years. His personal experiences which all of you know and mine including failed relationships, my wonderful marriage to Edvard and he knew all of our three daughters. We laughed, shared information, news of our lives. I feel as if I knew Dana and his sister, Irene, whom he loved to travel with. Christine and I have known each other for over 20 years! Eddie truly loved her forever! Eddie will live on in my thoughts and memory forever. I miss you Eddie, love,

“ Ed was a big part of my life. I cared a lot about him. I met him when I was probably 2 yrs old and now i'm 18. He and Christine lived in the same apartment building as us. We moved when I was 6. About 10 years went by, and one day my mom, Leslie Smith asked me if I wanted him to cut my hair. I said yes. So, ever since then I went to Ed to get my haircuts. He had that talent of being a barber. It was so sweet how he would not let me pay him. haha. He would treat Leslie and I out to dinner, which was always fun! I'll always remember him. :)##imported-begin##Haley Brocksmith##imported-end##

“ Eddie, You lived life in the moment. You ALWAYS did what you loved! Sushi and anchovies and my dogs will never be the same! I love you and always will. Your dreams of a B&B will not be forgotten. You always knew how to make me laugh. You taught me how to live in the moment and how to love again. Working with you at the salon, and getting to know you in your Deposit life has been the most memorable experience in my life. My children and I will remember you well. Thank you for teaching me your hair skills since 1979, for being a friend and being that significant other in most recent times. I hope to pass on your legacy of hair skills to those I lay hands on and your legacy of laughter to those you touched with your heart. I will dance with you again someday in that place you are now, happy and peaceful. All my love Lindalee###imported-begin###LindaLee Wayne-Ecker###imported-end##

“ Ed, you were my husband, ex-husband, hairdresser, and my best friend. So many thoughts of you come to me. One that springs to mind now, is the time we, and two other couples, were on our way to a friends house in Hoboken, in the dead of winter. There was snow and ice everywhere. A bus went by and you ran up and made the bus stop for us - even though we weren't at an official bus stop. Then we all got on. Well, I feel as if the opposite has just happened in a way. The bus stopped for you when it wasn't supposed to stop, and took you away from us without warning. You weren't at the bus stop, or even near one. You were always a strong person, so perhaps you had to be taken by surprise. It is just so difficult for all who loved you, and there are many. You will forever be in my heart.
