“ Dear Liz, Tommy, Brian, Mary Ellen, and Carolyn.

My own mother Patricia, Jean Claude and I send our deepest, most heartfelt condolences to you and all the family on the loss of your beloved mother.

Mrs. Davis was really something special: beautiful, charismatic, charming and resilient. She bravely carried on both personally and professionally after the premature death of her husband and raised five wonderful, accomplished children who then went on to have their own children and then their children's children.

I'll never forget how Mrs. Davis literally tore apart her house in a frenzied search for Elizabeth's missing elbow-length gloves minutes before Eliz's wedding to Jim. (She found them.)

It's impossible to quantify the degree and range of the love, kindness and compassion Mrs. Davis had for her family, her friends and her community. In fact, for everyone. I'm just happy to have been included in that very wide circle of hers.

Love to all of the Davis Family, near and extended. May you take comfort in the exemplary life your mother led.

*All my love,
Trish*

“ I love that Mrs. Davis always looked at the dessert menu first! Cherished memories are traveling for three weeks as her roommate, one in England and two in Ireland. A highlight was exploring her maternal roots in Clifden, Ireland. We stopped on Sky Road on the way to the family farmhouse and looked out at the Atlantic, thinking about those who braved that ocean so that we ended up here. Unforgettable, as is Eileen's smile.
