“ Uncle Frank would take a ride over the GW Bridge to pay his respects to his parents' resting spot in St. Raymond's Cemetery. He then would head to our house to visit with his sister, Mary, our Mother. During these visits we would witness the stories of their happy times they shared growing up on 38th Street with parents, siblings, aunt, uncle and cousins. He had a tremendous love and generosity for family. He will be very much missed. Your Nieces, Diane & Maryann Fontaine

“ I spent many hours in conversations with my beloved Uncle Frank. He was a well read man who was always up to date on all current events. His greatest joy was to speak of his younger days working beside his father. He was a man of great pride and wisdom. The hardest working person I ever met. It was a privilege for me to have had the opportunity to work with him and to get to know him so well. To hear his stories of World War 2 and his trials in Normandy were heart stopping. A true working class hero and representative of the greatest generation ever. Many thanks and love, Your nephew and godson...John Vitale
