“ Wayne and Terri Garretson have lost a wonderful friend and neighbor. We had a lot of good laughs, serious talks, and shared good samples of Terri's "Italian cooking." His departure will leave a hole in our hearts.

“Ginner, yer breakink my chops” And then something in Italian...

My uncle George. Married to my dad's (JDee) sister, Marilee. He called her Lee. He loved her more than life itself, he loved her fiercely is probably the best way to describe it. When I was 18 he brought me to New York to visit my aunt and cousin and see the big city. Can you imagine being on an airplane for the first time, seeing NYC and going on tour with those two? I had the time of my life. He brought us to see the King and I with Yul Brynner and Grease on Broadway- Then dinner and carriage ride through a snowy central park I'll never forget it.

We dined and danced with all of his friends he was so proud of his niece we went everywhere his friends were. He loved people, he would stop and share a joke with anyone and everyone and leave them laughing. He loved to dance – I remember him grabbing my hand in some restaurant in New Jersey at happy hour and he twisted and turned to the music in those plaid pants and white shoes... Could. Not. Would. Not. Be. Stopped. ❤️

Oh, and Atlantic City gambling and carrying on in the casinos. Going out to dinner sailing on Chesapeake Bay and so much more I can type here. He loved Italian food and great wine. His brother Donnie would order the wine and George would give him hell for the price every single time. It was like clockwork.

I loved him, he loved me and my husband Bruce and my parents JDee and Dorothy. He always let us know it. The last time I saw him was at Penn station and as he walked away he turned around and yelled “hey Gin!” and did a little jig as he said goodbye. We both laughed like crazy...

I will miss him dearly. Caio for now.
