“ ..Shall the angels call her much sooner than we have planned, we'll brave the bitter grief that comes and try to understand... God's Plan, author unknown I will always remember the times we spent in your home as a child.....another mother has gone to God. May the light of love and protection surround you and your family through this time. The God Force has decided for her to continue her journey....Love always...Sandra##imported-begin##sandra##imported-end##
