“ Mr. and Mrs. Mara, from the day James joined our team at Yusen, I knew he was special. He had a great sense of humor!! He was kind and thoughtful and loved managing his team and loved sharing his praises of them even more. I am thankful to have known him. To say he will be missed is an understatement...he will forever be in our hearts. -Tammy Hensrud, Yusen Logistics

“ Mr. and Mrs. Mara: My heart goes out to you during this terrible time of grief and loss. I was a co-worker of James for 7 years. He was a pleasure to work with but one could tell he was a better person. I teased him about having a hot tub in his condo because he sometimes seemed distracted when we were speaking. Anyway, the world is a lesser place now that he's gone. I'm grateful to have known James.

“ My condolences for your tragic loss. I'm sure James has Golf scheduled during the day and Poker at night in heaven. He is probably holding a Royal Straight Flush and everyone is raising thinking they have the best hand. He always laughed at my bad Dad jokes, even the terrible ones. He will be deeply and profoundly missed by myself and the rest of our team. Michael Shea

“ James,

I'll never forget when you gave me a chance at the Client Manager position. Your belief in me was the foundation upon which I've built my career. You weren't just a boss; you were a mentor, a friend, and a guiding light. I owe you more than words can say for the knowledge and support you've given me.

Your move to the HUB team was bittersweet. While I was happy for you, the thought of losing your guidance filled me with uncertainty. But your promise to always be there for me was a rock I clung to.

Beyond the professional realm, you were an incredible friend. From finding the perfect sneakers for my boys to securing affordable earbuds, your generosity knew no bounds. These acts of kindness will forever be cherished.

Our morning chats were more than just work talk; they were a source of inspiration and camaraderie. I'm going to miss our "whatsssssss up" routine more than I can express.

The thought of navigating this role without your wisdom is daunting, but I promise to honor your faith in me by working harder than ever. You've left an indelible mark on my life, and I'll carry your memory with me always.

Rest in peace, my friend.

Love, Charlottee

“ Hey Buddy... I will miss your calls when you were bored and wanted to chat about random things. Whether it was trying to explain bit coin to me, which I never got, or suggesting movies, to in depth reviews and commentary about the Walking Dead. I could always count on you to make me laugh or listen to me during my most difficult times. Next time I am in AC i will play a hand of poker for you ..

“ James, I will never forget the first day I met you during your interview in 2017. You were a bit shy so I thought I would break the ice by saying “so, your dad checked me out on LinkedIn, well what did he have to say about me” and we both cracked up laughing! From that day forward not only did you become a colleague, but you became a friend. Oh and let’s not forget me asking you did you want to participate and dress up for Halloween on your first day of work. I was blessed to have watched you evolve over the years, having had to let you spread your wings into a promoted position of a client manager. And in good ole James fashion you shined bright in that role and I was blessed to promote you into another management position and bring you back to my team!! For the last couple of months you and your two aunties as you called Me and Charlottee have had some laughs and were able to navigate through and encourage one another during some of our most busiest times.

Farewell, my friend. I've been beyond lucky to know you. May the angels light your path and may heaven be filled with Snickers and Skittles.

“ I am so sorry for your loss. I knew James through working with him through Yusen. I am from Tennessee and talking with him a lot on the phone was so entertaining. I have known him for 7 years and he was a joy to talk to and his funny side made working with him a lot of fun even if we only ever talked on the phone with each other. I will miss him so much. My prayers are with you and your family
