“ Jeff and I both worked together at Unilever/Lipton and I am so saddened to hear about his passing. I remember most of all being in the computer room as 3:00am on morning trying to get a progress database up and running. Most important to me though was Jeff's warm personality, great sense of humor, and his friendship and support. He will be missed and both my wife and I will be there tonite to say goodbye to a great human being.##imported-begin##Richard Cohen##imported-end##

“ Jeff, We have shared allot. In the beginning it was works experiences but because you were you, we quickly became friends. The best was still on the way. "Kate coming home" "The kids" Then birthdays, holidays and yes sadly illness. Together our families celebrated but also cried. I hope if I borrow your words and change just a few, others can share the wonderful person I have loved for all these years. There are those who have friends but no brothers and there are those who have brothers but no friends. Thank you Japhet for being a friend and a brother.##imported-begin##Bob DeMott##imported-end##

“ My condolences to Jeff's family. Jeff was a good man. May he rest in peace. Some memories... Jeff used to walk around the Lipton data center eating his ginger root. He was always a gracious host at his home, hosting berbeques and sharing his favorite brandy with everyone. He will be missed.##imported-begin##Frank Streppone##imported-end##

“ I can't begin to express in words what Jeff Afam and his wife did for me when I was growing up. I looked forward everytime I came over their inviting home. Their home was my second home, and it was an honor when they called me another son. To welcome me in, share their delicious food,share in their successes, their lives, and how they took their precious time to talk to me about anything and everything was something I will cherish and pass on for the rest of my life to others. I can only hope to give people in my life what Jeff and his wife gave to me at a young and vulnerable age. I know they will live on through their fantastic sons that they raised and all the others that were touched by them. May Jeff rest in peace... I rejoice because they are one in heaven again!###imported-begin##Patrick Newman###imported-end##
