“ Our beloved Nana lived a long life. She left us with many cherished memories, valuable life lessons and good manners. When I think about how hard my day is or my long commute to work, I think about her stories working in NYC during the depression. Up until the last moments we spent together, she reminded me to be grateful for the most basic things in life, and to remember to "put your feet up" and rest.

God bless our Nana. We love you always.
