“ Uncle Rey’s Eulogy:

On behalf of our family, my brothers' and sisters', and Kuya Nedy's, we thank you all our friends, our dear friends, for coming today to be with us, to comfort us, and to pay your respects to Inay, our mother, our Lola.

To you, my family, Inay’s children, Lola’s grandchildren, it would be a great consolation to remember and you should remember, you ought to realize that Inay, your Lola is still living WITHIN us – in our veins, in our brains, and in our hearts...THAT which keeps us breathing, THAT which makes us conscious and alive.

In MY case, Inay is within me whenever I act jittery and when I am always in a rush. I see myself in her, in her inclination to write long letters and to write them frequently, mostly out of concern for us. I SEE myself in her, in her LOVE of READING. When I COLLECT things I fancy – books, bookmarkers, stamps, pens, crossword puzzles, and a lot more, SHE is THERE WITHIN me, too. Inay is a collector of beautiful music as I am. She had a dozen racks and boxes of cassette tapes and CDs of Filipino folk music, classical, and piano music. She subscribed and collected magazines; she had scrapbooks of collected clippings of articles on family values and pictures of flowers, especially roses. She LOVED roses. In fact, she loved them so much that she surrounded our house with roses – on our front porch, along the driveway, and in our backyard. She filled them with shrubs of roses of all the colors - red, pink, orange, yellow, and white. But mostly pink, her favorite color.

YES, INAY, we had such wonderful and happy times with you! We cherish every moment of it. We’ll never forget you. We can never fully repay your UTMOST LOVE for us. But we love you just the same.

To each of you, my family, let us relish and be comforted by those moments and occasions when WE, at least, have expressed our love for Inay, for Lola – when we HUGGED and KISSED her – and SHE, SMILING at us and LOVING us with her WHOLE HEART, with her WHOLE STRENGTH, and with her WHOLE MIND.

WE LOVE YOU, INAY! WE LOVE YOU, LOLA!
