“ Dear Dori & Jim, I just wanted to let you know that we have a photograph (that we printed from egullet) sitting in the very middle of the bar of the back bar shelf, of Matt, for all to see. It means a lot to us to have that pix of him back there with us. He was an -extremely-beloved member of our 'family'. Whenever you have are feeling up to it, we would love it if you could send us a real photo of Matt. Something I could frame and put into a special cabinet of "cherished" keepsakes behind the bar at Pegu, and it will remain there for all of our friends to appreciate---for the rest of our days. We love him more than you'll know; more than words can describe. If and when you find yourself back in NYC, PLEASE come visit us. I know that me and my staff would love nothing more than the -honor-of being able to serve you. I know it would have made Matt very happy. “ I did not know Matt. And hear about his passing from the food link that he was a member off, where he was by the way, very well thought of. I am very sorry for you loss. And hope that you may have some comfort in knowing that Matt has made many people happy and more alive by the life he has lived and the experiences he has written about. All the best to you all.##imported-begin##Leon Waller##imported-end##

“ *Dear Dorrie and Jim, Ginnie called to tell me the incredibly sad news about Matthew. I remember him as a sweet, bright child who was very kind to my son Phil, the little kid down the block. We were looking at old pictures not long ago and I saw his picture at one of Phil's birthday parties. I hope his life was happy after you moved. I will remember him always as a little boy. “ Dear Hassett Family - I am so sorry for your loss and pray for you all at this grievous time. Young Matthew, as I affectionately referred to him, was such a lovely person. His conversation, intelligence and gentlemanly way made him a joy to be with. His spirit will remain strong in those that knew and cared for him as he made a strong impression on everyone he met. Thank you for raising such a wonderful, caring man who brought joy to so many, including myself. Claire###imported-begin##Claire Cimino###imported-end##

“ Matt was a fun and food loving member of eGullet which is where I met him online. On a visit to Atlanta last October, we had a lively and delightful lunch at a French brasserie here. Matt was the very embodiment of "class" in all he was and all he wrote. I will miss his laughter, his energy, and voracious search for all types of food wisdom.##imported-begin##Melissa Goodman##imported-end##

“ Matt was a sweet, kind, witty friend, known to me only through our posts on eGullet, but remembered fondly. He e-posted me privately a couple of times, to help me through some of the ways and means of posting, and once just so say he enjoyed my posts. His messages belied his youth, as his knowledge and experience of the cooking and dining world seemed vast and quite sophisticated, and we all enjoyed his writing. Just a sentence or two dashed off in reply held equal importance with a restaurant review, a recipe, a wine recommendation. Through his words, we were THERE; we tasted the wine, the sauces, the sweetness of the berries. His was a rare talent for evoking a time and place and atmosphere, and he was one of the few whose posts I sought out, though I knew not of the restaurants he was speaking of--just the hearing of it made it real and special. We will all miss his cheery greetings, his kind manner, and his humor and wit. Thank you for sharing this wonderful young man with us; we are all the richer for knowing him.

“ I want to extend my sincere condolences to you all at this time at Matt's passing. While I did not know him well, I spent an amazing evening seated across Matt at Studio Kitchen in West Philadelphia. I marvelled at his wisdom well beyond his years, he was indeed a very mature young man. I told him I was blown away that he got on a train from Teaneck and then navigated Philly's septa system to get to this dinner. I also said I wish my own daughters shared my passion with quality food and drink as Matt so clearly did.##imported-begin##Jeff Londoner##imported-end##

“ Dear Hassett Family: I just saw the announcement on eGullet that Matthew has died. I am really shocked and deeply saddened. I was until recently a staff member of eGullet. By getting to know Matthew through personal messages and reading his posts, I gained a respect for him and his character and therefore suggested that he be considered for a moderator position. I am proud to have been his colleague. He was a very nice person, always helpful, always thoughtful, always with interesting things to say. I can't imagine what pain you must be going through, to lose a loved one who should have had a long life ahead of him. I wish you strength and courage to live on. Matthew clearly got a lot of enjoyment from his life, and shared it with us. He touched many people throughout the world, and we will always miss and remember him. All my best wishes to you at this horrible time, Michael##imported-begin##Michael Laderman##imported-end##

“ I also knew Matt through eGullet. He was the first person from that board I ever met in real life. Appropriately for someone I met in a cocktail lounge, the word that springs to mind when I think of Matt is effervescent. It's hard to imagine walking into the Pegu Club without the possibility of ever seeing him there again. If I'm feeling the loss of this new acquaintance so acutely, I can only imagine what the family must be feeling. My deepest condolences.##imported-begin##Barry Okun##imported-end##

“ I join the others here in expressing my sadness at hearing of Matt's passing. I had the great pleasure of sharing a few dinners with Matt here in Philadelphia, and some lively conversations both here and in NY. I really enjoyed his company, he clearly was an extraordinary person. As others have noted, his knowledge of, and passion for, the culinary arts were truly impressive for a person of any age, and all the more so in one so young. I'm sure that aspect of his life that many of us knew through his activity on eGullet.org was only a tiny fraction of his whole being, but even that one facet alone was pretty impressive. I'm truly glad to have met him, and will remember our all-too-few encounters fondly. My most sincere condolences.##imported-begin##Jeff Towne##imported-end##

“ <http://offthebroiler.wordpress.com/2006/08/03/goodbye-matthew-wel-l-miss-you/> I think I can speak for everyone on eGullet on how distraught we are to hear of Matthew's passing. I remember how at the China 46 dinner in January we talked about how he dreamed of someday cooking at a restaurant or owning his own place. I was not aware that Matthew was ill or had health issues, he carried himself so well and was such a fun guy to be around. Matthew's post record on eGullet shows a young person with an intense passion for fine food and dining, and although I didn't know him very well, I feel like he lived a lot in his short life — he ate at all the best restaurants in New York City and could carry some very intelligent discussion about them for a young man of his age. Frankly, I didn't know he was only 22 years old until hearing of his passing today. At 22 I didn't have the sophistication in understanding restaurants and cuisine like he did, and in many ways, I'm still catching up with him in some of the places in NYC I want to eat at. Goodbye Matthew. At next fine meal, I'll be toasting to you.###imported-begin##Jason Perlow###imported-end##

“ Dear Hassett Family, I knew Matt through an online food discussion site that he was active on, eGullet.org. I am the NJ moderator and met him in person earlier this year at a Chinese New Years dinner we held at China 46 in Ridgefield Park. Afterwards, my husband and I drove him home. He was a very nice young man and it is so sad that he was taken so young. God bless Matt and your family and may He ease your suffering at this difficult time.
