“ I'm so very sorry for your loss I lost my Dad a few years ago It's like the glue that bonded the family is put thru the test The Dad teaches us so many things and life lessons Leaves us with valuable lessons And teaches us love and nurturing These things I will never forget but help me thru my sad moments I know my Dad has moved on and is with family and friends who got there before he did, and I'm grateful for everything he gave me, and even more grateful for knowing I carry him with me now everywhere in my heart and daily actions Listen carefully, you will hear him too He's not gone completely, he lives in your heart forever...##imported-begin##Lisa Barchetto##imported-end##
