“ Roselle was a very brave individual. Growing up in Montserrat, choir practice was held in the evening. After practice, she had no fear of taking a short cut home through the local cemetery to get home quickly. As teenagers, we couldn't understand her action because nothing any one offered could have enticed us to walk through that particular cemetery. We always admired her strength and bravery. She was also a very caring individual. I pray that her soul will rest in eternal peace.

So true, I lived below the Anglican Church cemetery. I was so afraid to look in that direction at nights but Ro had no fear. She would go through the grave yard at nights without a thought. She never had a bad word to say about anyone. She was kind, understanding, brilliant, beautiful, inside and outside, just a phenomenal woman.

I will miss her more than words can say. SWEET BE YOUR REST MY DEAR FRIEND, I am heart broken. We will meet again.
