

Sam DeMartino

December 8, 2015

DeMartino, Sam, 93, of Paramus formerly of Newark passed away on December 8, 2015. Beloved husband of the late Cornelia (nee DelGuercio) and the late Nell (nee Kwiatkowski). Devoted father of Dr. Lucille DeMartino, Thomas and his wife Joyce, predeceased by his son Michael. Dear brother to Lucy, Christine, Philomena & James DeMartino. Loving grandfather of Thomas and Robert.

Decorated veteran of WWII and Purple Heart recipient. Highly skilled machinist by trade and woodworker. Portrait artist with pen and pencil. Beloved for his commitment to family. A true member of the "Greatest Generation."

Family and friends are invited for a memorial service at the Volk Leber Funeral Home, 789 Teaneck Road Teaneck, NJ 07666 on Saturday, January 16, 2016 from 1-5PM.

Funeral Service will begin at 4PM.

“ I will always remember Sam as a true artist and a true veteran. He was so proud to show me the art that he drew/sketched/painted....with his heart. He wasnt in the armed forces to just put in his time. He fought overseas frontline for you, for me, for America....and he did this also with his heart. Thank you Sam.

“ My Dad loved us and all my/ Tom's and his own cats! He seemed to find a deep love within himself as he cared for animals! He would trap animals from his garden in hopes to save his tomatoes....Then drive them miles away to safety!....they came back! Dad was a mush! Dad was an artist! I will bring his pencil drawings for you to see! He actually did some in foxholes! Tears for our loss but praise that he has a new body...mind! ...and our Mike now can make up for all his lost years with Dad!

Dr. Lucille DeMartino - December 11, 2015 at 10:40 AM

ER

Sam was Lucille and Tom's dad and a dear person to me. I will never forget the time I was stranded on Lucille's roof and Sam had just pulled up to feed the cats. He heard my cry for "help", and he looked up and said "what are you doing up there!" And we both laughed hysterically. I was rescued. Great memory!

Only you would lock a door when the only ones to come into the room would be a kitty! Never laughed so hard! Love you!
