“ *Dearest Tom,
You were a dear friend and colleague.
Thank you for the laughs at the bank.
For going over my term papers when I was going to college online.
And for reminding me of things I forgot I did to help you and others.
You will be very missed my friend!
Rest in Paradise!*

“ Was fortunate to get to work with Tom when he was working for the Employment Service in the NJ Department of Labor. He was a fellow Seton Hall grad, and told me how much he enjoyed his Accounting class at SHU that my father taught. RIP Tom.

I had the privilege of knowing and working with Tom for a major portion of his 40 plus years with the NJ Department of Labor. He was not just a colleague but a friend. In his position, if Tom heard about an upcoming promotional exam and he thought I was the best candidate he'd always suggest that I put in a bid for the position. No one knew more about the inner workings of the Department than Tom. Prior to my retirement I had the opportunity for ten years to join Tom as part of a regional office staff. Right up to his retirement date he was still sharing the knowledge he had gained in his 40 years with the Department. His jokes weren't always funny, but if you had a connection with Tom you found yourself laughing
